—AND SOME HUMOR—

An old lady was out riding with her son and his wife. Presently they came to a group of buildings surrounded by a high stone wall.

"What is that, son?" she asked, pointing to the buildings.

"That is the state insane asylum, mother," explained the son.

Next they came to a golf course, adjoining the asylum, which was well populated with the Sunday crowd.

"Oh, isn't that nice of them to let the poor crazy people out into the pasture?" exclaimed the old lady.

"But they do act queer, don't they?"

—AND SOME VERSE—

The Quest
To find me out of my gloom,
And hear a mocking-bird singing
On an apple tree in bloom.

I sat longing for ineffable things
To satisfy my deep hunger,
And saw a mother bird hide a brood
From lightning and thunder.

I bowed, asking a Divine revelation
To illumine my way to God,
And at my feet a shy little violet
Lifted a face from the sod.

I sought too high for truth nearby,
Standing aloof and apart;
For God is found in love and beauty,
The Word is in my heart.

QUESTIONNAIRE IS CONDEMNED
BY RESOLUTION

Curators Directed to Take "Immediate Action"

REP. C. E. CLOWE, AUTHOR

University Committee to Consider Declaration
Tonight

JEFFERSON CITY, March 18 (U.P.)—A resolution condemning the sex questionnaire circulated among the students of the University of Missouri, was offered in the House today by Representative C. E. Clowe of Stoddard County. The resolution directed the University Board of Curators to take action against authors of the questionnaire.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on University and School of Mines. Representative Clowe said he had not seen one of the questionnaires.

However, it is known that another representative whose daughter received one of the questionnaires, complained to Gov. Caulfield about it.

The resolution by Representative Clowe follows: "In view of the sex questionnaire which has appeared on the campus of our State University, and which has been widely circulated among the students of said University, and which has been given wide publicity by local and metropolitan newspapers, and which has been severely condemned by people who have seen said questionnaire as being vicious, lewd and obscene.

"Be it further resolved that this House of Representatives condemn such action on the part of the author or authors of said questionnaire, causing it to be printed and distributed among the students of the University, and.

"Be it further resolved that this matter be brought before the Board of Curators of the State University, and before the president of the University, Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, for immediate action, and that measures be taken to prevent future occurrence of this character."

A special meeting of the board of curators has been called for tomorrow in Columbia, to take action on the questionnaire.

Representative Eli Wherry of Kansas City, chairman of the House University Committee, announced the resolution would be considered at a special meeting of the committee tonight.

QUESTIONNAIRE IS UPHELD BY CLASS

Petition to Pres. Brooks
Is Signed by 133 in
"The Family"

We, the undersigned members of the class in "The Family," deploring any blame that may seemingly attach to Prof. Harmon DeGraff, a well-loved instructor, and to our University, in connection with the questionnaires that were given unwarranted and unnecessary publicity by agencies ignorant of the class purpose and of constructive policy of the sociology department, realizing fully that there was no offense intended by those who distributed the questionnaires and probably none felt by most of those who received them; questioning the value of false modesty, and sincerely believing that the most admirable way to meet any problem is to face the facts; do earnestly request you to minimize the disproportionate significance that has been attached to the matter."

A petition addressed to the president of the University, containing the preceding statement, was signed by 133 persons in the class, "The Family," this morning between 8 and 9 o'clock.

The class instructor, Prof. H. O. DeGraff, was asked to leave the classroom for about fifteen minutes at 8:45 o'clock at which time the questionnaire matter was brought up for discussion by several of the students and graduate students of the class.

One student arose and said that she noticed several visiting women in the class this morning and since those who were members of the class had received instruction from Prof. DeGraff, not only in this course but in other courses, she would like to have a rising vote of all those who were in favor of standing solidly behind Prof. DeGraff in the "crisis."

Approximately the entire class jumped to its feet. A short discussion followed at which time the petition was passed around. K. C. Pastor Defends Questionnaire. The Rev. L. M. Birkhead of the All Souls Unitarian Church, Kansas City, defended the sex questionnaire and those responsible for its dissemination among students of the University, at the weekly social psychology class held at that church last Friday.

Mr. Birkhead listed the questions, and asked the opinion of those present. About sixty women, all of them mothers or grandmothers, were unanimous in opposing the dissemination of those responsible for the questionnaire.

The Weather

For Columbia and vicinity: Fair tonight and Tuesday; somewhat colder Tuesday; temperature tonight above freezing.

For Missouri: Fair tonight and Tuesday; somewhat colder Tuesday and extreme northwest portion tonight.

Shippers forecast: Within a radius of 200 miles of Columbia the lowest temperatures are expected to be above freezing.

Weather conditions: Following the general rains of last week fine spring weather has prevailed since Saturday over all the country from ocean to ocean. The only touch of winter showing up this morning was light snow in Montana, Alberta, and Saskatchewan; and rather a chilly rain was falling in parts of the Rio Grande Valley. Bright sunshine has followed in the recently flooded southeast states, but it is still rather cool for the season. In middle and northern latitudes temperatures approximate the seasonal. And no unusual changes are indicated.

Highest temperature here yesterday was 60; lowest last night, 38.

WIRES ENDANGER
AIRCRAFT LANDING

Cables at Local Field
Are Chief Objection,
Says Capt. Read

Telephone wires running along the south side of Columbia's municipal airport constitute the chief objection to the field, in the opinion of Capt. Joseph P. Read of St. Louis, who landed at the field early this afternoon in a Curtiss-Robin cabin monoplane. Small aircraft will have no trouble in clearing the wires and landing upon the field with a good margin of safety, but larger planes are almost forced to land from another direction, for by the time they have cleared the wires, they are too high to land on the field safely, Capt. Read said.

Capt. Read is traveling through Missouri on business for the Curtis-Robinson Aircraft Corporation, Columbia is his first stop out of St. Louis.

Capt. Read is one of the country's most famous experimental pilots. He was the first man to design and use a successful braking system for large aircraft, and which has been widely used in the design of the wheels of the airplane. The brake was operated only when the tail skid was on the ground, which eliminated the danger of setting which was experienced in some of the other types of brakes.

Capt. Read was also the first pilot to use radio for commercial purposes from his plane, in the flight of the Curtiss-Robin from Columbia to the United States government which gives him the privilege of carrying passengers in any of the states. This is his second trip to Columbia. He was here on business for the Travel-Air Corporation last summer.

TO GIVE PROGRAM ON TARIFF

FEDERATION OF
M. E. CHURCHES
IS INDICATED

Northern and Southern Branches Give Approval

NO FINAL ACTION TAKEN

Committee on Details to Report at Conference in April

While no final action toward amalgamation of the Northern and Southern Methodist churches was taken at the conference of Bishops of these two churches here Saturday, strong feeling of approval was expressed on both sides which indicated that only the working out of details regarding membership privileges and financial obligations lies between their ultimate federation.

At the conference, which was attended by committees from both churches, only general questions were brought up for discussion. A special committee, representing both churches was appointed at the morning session to work out details and to report their findings at a second conference to be held during the first part of April.

This committee is headed by Bishop W. F. McMurray of the Methodist Church, South, and is composed of H. J. Bane, H. Schuett, Bishop E. L. Waldorf, Manuel Drumm, J. D. Randolph, J. B. Swinney, and C. W. Tadlock.

Meeting informally at the noon hour, this committee voted unanimously to endorse the proposal for federation. This decision represented the general sentiment of the afternoon conference.

A special meeting of this committee is called for next Friday and will be held at the Northern Methodist center in Kansas City. At this time it is expected to complete arrangements for several detailed problems.

While complete federation is almost assured, it will not be finally effected until the annual conferences of churches which are held during the first part of September.

RESEARCH WORK
HERE INSPECTED

Dr. R. W. Thatcher Visits
University in Interest of Chemical Fund

Acting in the interest of the Frisch Foundation Chemical Research Fund, Dr. Roscoe W. Thatcher, president of Massachusetts Agricultural College, Amherst, spent today making an investigation of the contributions that the College of Agriculture has made towards research in animal growth.

Elizabeth Blee Frisch founded the Frisch fund in the interest of chemical research. The fund provides that $40,000 shall be spent each year for a period of five years in the encouragement of research. The College of Agriculture in the University receives $12,000 yearly for research in the chemistry of animal growth.

Besides the University, the Boyce Thompson Institute for Plant Research, Yonkers, and the University of Wisconsin receive yearly contributions from the Frisch funds.

Research is being done in the biochemistry of nitrogen fixation at the University of Wisconsin, according to Dr. Thatcher. The Boyce Thompson Institute for Plant Research is concerned with two problems: the chemical stimulation of plant growth, and the chemistry of insecticides and fungicides.

Dr. Thatcher has been appointed general-supervisor of the work being done by the Frisch fund in the three institutions. He makes yearly visits to the institutions in an effort to determine the results of the experiments conducted in each of them.

After Dr. Thatcher's inspection of the College of Agriculture in the University, his work for this year will be completed. He intends to return to Boston tomorrow.

"Experimentation is being continued for several years," Dr. Thatcher explained. "At the end of that time research may be conducted along slightly different lines."

OFFICERS ARREST

PAUL SELBY HERE
State Charges Man With Possessing Liquor and Stolen Goods

The case of Paul Selby, charged with receiving stolen property and possession of liquor, was turned over to the state following his arrest here yesterday, when officers from Booneville searched his home on Walnut Street.

Booneville officers were looking for clothing stolen last week from a local hand store there. Part of the loot was found in the Selby house; they charge. Discovery of a pint of whisky added to the second charge. No trial date has been set.

Two hundred dollars and thirty days in jail was the sentence imposed on Elmer Lillard, 415 Hitt Street, in police court this morning following his arrest yesterday on charge of possession of liquor. The arrest was made at the Lillard home yesterday morning.

Curt Reeves, a negro, was fined $1 and costs on charge of drunkenness for the third time this month.

DISPOSAL PLANT
IS RECONDITIONED

Shutdown Due to Clogging of Dissolving
Chambers

The city sewage disposal plant south of town on the Katy track, built in 1920 at a cost of $98,000, is in perfect running condition again after its recent shutdown necessitated by accumulation of sand and debris, which plugged the dissolving chambers. Mayor W. J. Hetzel and Dean E. J. McCausland of the College of Engineering, following their formal inspection of the plant a few days ago, expressed complete satisfaction at this condition.

When the plant failed to function properly early last summer, the City Council appointed a special committee to investigate the trouble. It was found that the projecting nozzles on the bottom of the chambers, through which the sewage filters off, had become clogged with sand and the like which had drifted in from building activities. A bed of rock underneath these nozzles had to be taken out, dried and cleaned. Sewage meanwhile had to be diverted into the Hinkson. The job was done on Saturday.

Following a later inspection of the plant, the city engineer built double grit chambers about five hundred feet back of the original ones to prevent this debris and sand from getting into the plant.

RELIEF WORK IN FLOODED AREAS
GOES FORWARD

Fair Weather Enables
Rescuers to Help
Refugees

SITUATION STILL GRAVE

Damage Caused by High Waters Is Estimated at $15,000,000

By United Press
Fair weather today in flooded regions of Alabama, Georgia and Florida enabled relief work to move at high speed. Precautions were taken to stop spread of disease among the 25,000 homeless, and to succor the few remaining communities where flood dangers were increasing.

Cases of measles, typhoid, and other contagious diseases have been reported, but not in sufficient numbers to cause real anxiety.

The death list will exceed 100, according to reports given Gov. Bibb Graves of Alabama. On lower courses of streams and rivers, flood crests moved, and fears were felt for marooned in northwestern Florida, parts of Alabama and southern Georgia.

The situation in northern Georgia, however, before the evacuation of the Elba sector, completed Saturday.

More than 15,000 refugees were being cared for in Alabama. Other thousands were forced from their homes Sunday near Selma, Ala., on the Alabama River. In northern Florida, it was estimated more than 5000 were driven from their homes, and at least that number in Georgia.

Martial Law in Alabama Towns
TROY, Ala., March 18 (U.P.)—Martial law prevailed in Elba and Geneva, Ala., today. Col. W. E. Persons, of the Alabama National Guard, clamped on the lid after Col. Milton Stone, of Gov. Bibb Graves' personal staff, reported to the governor that there were insufficient guardsmen in the flood-stricken areas of the state to cope with the situation.

Looting was reported growing, and although the Public Health Service reported disease well under control, guardsmen were ordered to instruct all persons now in the area to prevent themselves at the various rescue camps for inoculation.

The health service has reported but slight cases of measles, and less than a dozen cases of influenza, sayings all of these had been segregated. Col. Persons, however, is reported to have asked Gov. Graves for permission to force those persons still in the towns of Elba and Geneva to leave to prevent spread of disease and looting.

Governor Asks for Relief Fund
Gov. Graves, it is reported, has issued a statement asking a relief fund of $250,000. He announced late yesterday the funds would continue to be received by Charles A. Moffett, chairman of the state board of administration, until the governor said, a program will be mapped out to rehabilitate the wrecked areas.

The flood waters in their three-day rampage, have taken an estimated death toll of nearly a score of lives and caused damage amounting to $15,000,000, according to the most accurate reports obtainable today.

The muddy waters in the Elba sector have receded, leaving in their wake 15,000 homeless persons, but Opp, Ala., where 300 Elba refugees were taken after being rescued, is reported isolated and calling for medical aid and food for straits almost as serious. At least 1000 persons are homeless there.

Elba May Not Be Rebuilt
The property damage here alone is estimated at $4,000,000 by Y. W. Rainey, president of the Elba Bank. This business man, one of the town's leading citizens, said that the rebuilding of the town, "Whether we will rebuild on this spot, I don't know," he said.

Not a building in the mud-covered town is undamaged. Hundreds of scores were carried away on the crest of the flood and swept down the Pea River.

All of the homeless of the town are being cared for by the Red Cross.

Iowa Flood Causes Serious Damage
VINTON, Iowa, March 18 (U.P.)—Vinton, without fresh water, power or light today as a result of a flood. Cedar River broke from its banks and flooded the pumping station of the municipal power plant.

With the water mains empty the situation was considered extremely serious.

Practically all industries were shut down and schools were closed.

Cedar Rapids Is Partly Inundated
CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., March 18 (U.P.)—The worst flood conditions in forty-five years prevailed here today with several square miles of business and residential districts covered with water, principal industries at a standstill, and the water works closed to prevent pollution of water.

The Cedar River went over its banks on the upper west side of the city and swept aside a mile or sand bags which had been hastily thrown to protect the section. Several streets were inundated.

Coast Guards Aid Refugees
WASHINGTON, March 18 (U.P.)—A small rescue fleet of eight Coast Guard vessels was proceeding up the Choctawhatchee River today with Red Cross provisions and medical supplies for sufferers in the southern
